HLTAID004 Provide an Emergency First Aid Response in an Education and Care Setting

This training provides the skills and knowledge required to provide a first aid response to infants, children and adults.

The training applies to educators and support staff working within an education and care setting who are required to respond to a first aid emergency, including asthmatic and anaphylactic emergencies.

The Australian Children's Education & Care Quality Authority (ACECQA) recommends HLTAID004 as satisfying all educator requirements for first aid, anaphylaxis management and emergency asthma training.

The training is useful for parents, carers, babysitters or other people who may frequently have children or babies in their care.

Language Literacy and Numeracy

Candidates should be able to read and write English at approximately a grade 12 level. Reasonable computer skills and access to email and internet are strongly recommended.

Pre-requisites

There are no prerequisite for this unit, however training packages describes the candidates must have Foundation Skills (language, literacy and numeracy) that are essential to perform oral communication in order to make an accurate verbal report to emergency response services and workplace supervisor and; Written communication skills to complete an incident report in line with organisational policies.

Course outcome

The HLTAID004 Provide an emergency first aid response in an education and care setting unit of competency is derived from the HLT Health Training Package and is accepted by ACECQA as an industry standard first aid qualification.

On successful completion of this training program a Statement of Attainment in HLTAID004 Provide an emergency first aid response in an education and care setting will be issued to the participants. Students will receive their Statement of Attainment within five working days from the date of completion of the course through express post.

Australian Resuscitation Council (ARC) guidelines indicate that a (Cardiopulmonary resuscitation) CPR qualification should be renewed every 12 months and that a First Aid qualification should be renewed every 3 years.
